Presiding Bishop Katharine Jefferts Schori has announced a 90-minute live forum in collaboration with the Diocese of Mississippi. The forum will be held at St. Andrew's Episcopal Cathedral in Jackson, Miss.

The forum will begin with a thought-provoking video and be moderated by well-known journalist and PBS commentator Ray Suarez. Presiding Bishop Jefferts Schori will present the keynote address.

Two panel discussions will focus on main themes:

Racism in America today - why does it persist? and

Racism in America's future - where is there hope for change?

The list of distinguished panelists includes:

The Rt. Rev. Michael Curry, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina.

Ms. Myrlie Evers-Williams, civil rights activist and journalist and widow of slain civil rights leader Medgar Evers

The Honorable William F. Winter, former governor of Mississippi and founder of the William Winter Institute for Racial Reconciliation

The Hon. Byron Rushing, Massachusetts State Representative, civil rights leader and vice president of the Episcopal Church House of Deputies
